

3 February 1967

JSW:

1. Second-term Congressman James H. Scheuer (D., N.Y.) on 31 January 1967 introduced H. Con. Res. 116, establishing a Congressional Commission on the role of Congress in foreign policy and intelligence activities. He introduced a similar resolution on 9 June 1965. Scheuer is on the Education and Labor Committee. His district is in the Bronx.

2. This will be the fifth intelligence activity resolution introduced in the 90th Congress in the House (none introduced in the Senate). The other four were Representative Jeffrey Cohelan's, Representative Clement Zablocki's, Representative Edna Kelly's, and Representative Robert Kastenmeier's, all repeats of last Congress.

3. During the 89th Congress, there were 16 so-called joint committee or investigative measures introduced in the House.
